What is a PUD Amendment and why is it required?

PUD Amendments are required when City staff determine, upon review of a building permit application or plans that the proposed project does not conform to the standards approved under that Planned Unit Development.

What is the difference between a major or a minor amendment?

Modifications of the provisions of the PUD of 10% or less requires a minor amendment, and modifications of more than 10% require a major amendment. Minor amendments require a public meeting with the Plan Commission and are subsequently approved or denied by the PC. Major Amendments require a public hearing with the Plan Commission and are subsequently approved or denied by the City Council.
